

Which Benefits Are Most Valued by Job Seekers?

When choosing between a high-paying job and a lower-paying one with better benefits, respondents said health insurance and flexible hours might tip them toward the latter.

